Can Costa Rica achieve a fully decarbonised energy system?

This policy roadmap complements the study “100% Renewable Energy for Costa Rica – A decarbonisation roadmap” by the University of Technology Sydney – Institute for Sustainable Futures. It aims to provide policy pathways for Costa Rican to achieve a fully decarbonised energy system in Costa Rica.

What can Costa Rica do to improve the environment?

To reach this goal, Costa Rica will make changes and modifications to mobility and transport (public as well as private), optimize energy management, promote sustainable construction and industry, and improve recycling and waste disposal.

How will renewables affect Costa Rica's energy system?

Both renewable scenarios will result in a high proportion of variable power generation (PV and wind): 33%–31% by 2030 and 54%–66% by 2050. Such a varied mix of renewables will make Costa Rica’s energy system more resilient, efficient and affordable.

Does Costa Rica have a national energy plan?

Land use: Costa Rica intends to increase the current 52% of forest cover to 60% by 2050 and improve access to green spaces for citizens. Costa Rica’s National Energy Plan 2015-2030 (PNE) is the country’s seventh national energy plan and is inspired by the National Development Plan 2015-2018 (MINAE, 2015a).

Does Costa Rica have 100% renewable electricity?

To date, Costa Rica is one of very few countries to run on 100% renewable electricity for the largest part of the year. In fact, 2018 was the fourth year in a row that Costa Rica generated more than 98% of its electricity from renewable sources (2015: 98.99%; 2016: 98.21%; 2017: 99.67%; 2018:

98.15).

What is the energy system like in Costa Rica?

Currently, the energy system in Costa Rica is heavily centralised, with the Costa Rican Electricity Institute (ICE), the state-owned power and telecoms provider, by law being the only actor obligated to provide electricity to all sectors and parts of the country.
