Lithium power storage in guyana

Overview

When Barbados installed 214 MWh of storage in 2023, they sort of stumbled into a best practice we now call "island-hopping redundancy." By linking smaller battery systems across multiple parishes, they achieved 99.97% uptime during hurricane season. Could this work for Guyana's scattered river.

Guyana, traditionally known for its agriculture and recent oil discoveries, is now eyeing renewable energy solutions to balance growth and sustainability. But here's the kicker—how do you store all that clean energy efficiently?

Enter lithium-ion batteries, the caffeine shot for modern energy.

LNDCH4 Guyana is pleased to announce the arrival of the Backup Battery Storage System (BESS) which landed at the John Fernandes wharf today. The BESS forms a critical part of the power plant's emergency support system and is engineered to ensure uninterrupted energy delivery in the event of turbine.

We exclusively offer high-performance lithium batteries for maximum efficiency, fast charging, and long-lasting storage. Perfect for Guyana's energy needs, our lithium solutions provide reliable backup during blackouts and seamless integration with solar systems-urban or off-grid. Copyright © 2025.

Guyana's landmark Gas-to-Energy project reached a critical milestone with the arrival of a 30-MW backup battery energy storage system (BESS) at Georgetown's John Fernandes Wharf, according to OilNOW. The system, delivered in 22 containers by US joint venture LNDCH4, serves as emergency power.
