Tram overseas energy storage contract

Overview

How many passengers can a new tram take?

In this case, the tram will comprise 5 modules and will have a capacity for more than 200 passengers along its 35-metre length. It will also be fitted with the OESS (On Board Energy Storage Systems) system, which enables catenary-free unit operation, thereby reducing the visual impact and increasing service energy efficiency.

How much is CAF's tram contract worth?

It has been awarded the Framework Contract for the supply and maintenance of trams for Bologna, and has also reached an agreement with the Rome operator ATAC S.p.A. to extend the tram contract that CAF is currently undertaking for the Italian capital. As a whole, these new awards are worth approximately €200 million.

Does ATAC have a tram extension option in Rome?

In addition, the Italian operator ATAC S.p.A., the company that manages public transport in the Rome metropolitan area, has made use of a first extension option provided for in the Framework Agreement for the tram supply project, which CAF was awarded at the end of last year.
